

Bryan de Roo

Bryan de Roo, born in 1970 and native to California, has lived throughout the state for the bulk of his life apart from two years of graduate study in painting at Boston University. Since 2003, Bryan has been living in Los Angeles and pursuing a career as a full-time fine artist. His work, always in a state of evolution, can be characterized as a confluence of symbol, matter and attitude into pregnant images and forms that teeter between literal interpretation and anxious abstraction.
